Your very own data processing hub in the cloud

Data processing – a common headache

Geographic data plays an increasingly vital role in business processes and decision making across the public and commercial sectors. However, the costs of collecting, aggregating, managing and keeping that data up to date are often ignored.

Making data available to staff and project teams in multiple and usable formats can be complicated and costly. Manual legacy processes will often take time, present limitations and rely on particular members of staff being available. Resulting project delays are a common scenario providing a clear business case for change.

express by emapsite your very own data processing hub in the cloud

Express by emapsite is a low-cost, efficient way for you and your colleagues to access and use the geographic data you hold and license to suit your specific needs. You literally have the mapping for the whole country at your fingertips.

Whether it's processing country level coverage, exporting a complex GIS boundary file containing a road or river network, or extracting specific data such as every address in a catchment area, Express by emapsite will do the job for you.

How does Express by emapsite work?

We manage the most up-to-date geographic data from all popular sources. We give you access to all your licensed mapping via the emapsite cloud. Once the service is activated you can download custom data in a few minutes through a simple process:

- Search by location/OS grid ref/upload GIS file
- Draw bounding box/polygon to extract
- Define what mapping layers you need
- Select from wide list of CAD/GIS or image formats
- Allocate or reference to a project
- Instant processing and data download

What are the benefits?

- Always on, always up to date, always works
- Eliminate unnecessary GIS software licences
- Can be configured as a self-service portal or used as powerful supporting software by an administrator.
- Avoid duplication of effort and improve staff efficiencies
- Mitigate against unintentional misuse of licensed data
- Keep projects moving with application-ready data

How much does it cost?

Available on tiered or fixed subscription models subject to usage:

- £500 per year for standard unlimited subscription
- Add-on options to include your own data and add layers

Custom formatting options available.
