

British Geological Survey
3RD PARTY DIGITAL DATA LICENCE [3PDL] SCHEDULE

Licence No: 2021/3PDL/xxxxxx

where xxxxxx is the invoice number for the data purchased from Emapsite.com Ltd

Data Set(s): As specified on the customer's invoice.

Special conditions:

- i) The digital data is provided to you by the Licensor, via the LDS, under this licence, solely for the Secondary Licensee's use in the fulfilment of its standard operational activities. Any other usage will require additional permission from the Licensor.
- ii) No authorisation for additional digitising or scanning of the above map data/other material is granted under this licence.
- iii) This licence covers the use of the digital material for use on the PC's/workstations/laptops of the purchasing company's staff only, for the number of users covered as specified on the customer's invoice.
- iv) The use of digital material described under iii) extends to the placement of the material on Secondary Licensee's internal servers and/or Intranet systems, subject to the following conditions:-
 - a) For desktop GIS users, data will be stored in a password protected area and access will only be granted to named internal user-ids and capped as appropriate to Clause iii) of this Schedule.
 - b) For Intranet use, a database of internal geological data users will be created and the number of concurrent users will be capped as appropriate to Clause iii) of this Schedule.
- v) Placement of the data on the Internet is prohibited. However, extracts derived from the digital data supplied under this licence may be reproduced for internal purposes, or passed on/made available to third parties, in:
 - Analogue (paper/hardcopy); and/or
 - In any non-queryable electronic format (e.g. within an appropriately secured .PDF document) from which it is not possible to: (i) reverse-engineer back to, or to decompile, the BGS digital data; and/or (ii) print or download the reproduced extracts independently from the document;

solely for the following purposes:

- To meet a public duty or task; and/or to fulfil a statutory requirement; and/or
- As part of academic or other non-commercial research

- vi) A maximum of 20 extracts of up to A3 in size of materials derived from the BGS digital data supplied under this licence may be reproduced in analogue reports or non-queryable electronic format reports (e.g. appropriately secured .PDF format from which it is not possible to: (i) reverse-engineer back to, or to decompile, the BGS digital data; and/or (ii) print or download the reproduced extracts independently from the document), which you have been commissioned to produce on a commercial basis. Any additional reproduction on a commercial basis of extracts derived from the BGS digital data supplied under this licence is not permitted under this licence and will require separate arrangements to be agreed in writing with the Licensor.
- vii) The reproductions authorised under clause (v) and (vi) above are permitted with the following statement to appear alongside such material:
Licence No. 2021/3PDL/xxxxxx British Geological Survey © NERC. All rights reserved.
- viii) Subject to any changes in requirements/usage, this licence may be renewed by the mutual agreement of the LDS and the Secondary Licensee, subject to the LDS agreement with the Licensor.
